Communication

In order that we can provide you with the best options for your clients and to ensure the best possible outcome, referring practices will be required to provide up-front client and patient information. Roundhouse Referrals will work in partnership with referring practices, providing clear and concise post-operative plans that optimise patient care and recovery.

Flexibility

Roundhouse Referrals offers a personal service; we will adapt our service to meet the clinical needs of a given scenario

Feedback

At Roundhouse Referrals, we welcome feedback on how we can partner and support you to deliver great care to your patients. Any feedback can be emailed directly to Ross Allan: ross@rhr.vet

Price Certainty

At Roundhouse Referrals, we wanted to make things easier for referring vets and their clients, spiralling veterinary costs create a significant problem for many clients – towards that end we have created a list of common advanced procedures and have standardised their price. Our intention is to add to this list over time.

Fixed Price Guarantee

Included in our Fixed Price Procedure Fees is our Fixed Price Guarantee. We are so confident of a successful outcome that we will not charge for surgical revision required as a result of any issues within our control: we will fix your patient's issue for the fee agreed.

Fixed Price Fix (FPF) – Packages

Concurrent conditions: All FPF Packages include the surgery required to treat a single, commonly diagnosed clinical condition. Should the clinical condition be more complex (e.g., cruciate disease and concurrent medial patella luxation), or should the patient have medical co-morbidities (e.g., diabetes, heart disease, hypothyroidism, etc) a supplemental charge may be applied.

Fixed Price Procedures

Patella Luxation

This FPF package price is for surgery of dogs <25kgs, it excludes those with grade 4 (fixed patella) and excludes those with femoral or tibial rotation requiring corrective osteotomy.

Cruciate

This FPF package price includes TPLO, TTA and Extracapsular Suture procedures. Clients will be advised of the advantages and disadvantages for each procedure, and on occasion it may be necessary to review this advice following assessment of pre-operative radiographs.

Femoral Head and Neck Excision (FHNE)

FHNE is performed for removal of pain and discomfort due to either fracture of the femoral head and neck or dislocation of the hip. Clients expectations of a successful outcome will be set in advance, a successful outcome will be deemed to be achieved by ensuring a reduction in pain and functional, if not entirely normal use of the affected limb.

Brachycephalic Airway Surgery (BOAS)

The FPF package price includes X-ray assessment of the tracheal lumen diameter-to-thoracic inlet ratio. The surgery covered within the FPF BOAS package is a combination of nasoplasty, staphylectomy and removal of everted laryngeal sacculles where such techniques are deemed appropriate to the individual patient's needs.

Additional concurrent conditions could be encountered in these patients, such as: laryngeal collapse, tracheal collapse, or aberrant turbinates. The FPF package price will not include the surgical or medical management of additional conditions. Clients' expectations of a successful outcome will be set prior to surgical admission.

Clinical success will be deemed to be a functional improvement associated with the aforementioned structures not necessarily a resolution of respiratory noise or nature.

Total Ear Canal Ablation – Bulla Osteotomy (TECA-BO)

The TECA-BO FPF package price includes pre-surgical assessment with X-ray where this is deemed clinically appropriate. Assessment using CT imaging may be essential for a proportion of patients and owners will be advised of this at the time of consultation. Should this occur, CT imaging can be arranged for a supplemental fee. If clients decline CT imaging when it has been advised, then the FPF package price will not apply.

Perineal Hernia

The Perineal Hernia FPF package price allows for abdominal imaging, using X-ray or ultrasound as deemed necessary, and surgical management of the stable patient. In dogs presenting with concurrent disease: such as displacement of the bladder or entrapment of intestine within the hernia, then supplemental charges may be applied. Similarly, supplemental charges may be applied if surgical mesh is required for hernia closure, or if additional abdominal techniques such as colopexy are required.

Laparoscopic Ovariectomy

This FPF price is for ovariectomy performed as a sterilisation procedure in dogs over 10kgs. Whilst we are experienced in this technique, clients will be advised that conversion to open ovariectomy, or ovariohysterectomy may be required in a small proportion of cases and consent for this will be required at the time of hospital admission.
